MINIMUM WAGE (AMENDMENT) ACT 2016

BILL SUMMARY

The Minimum Wage Act legislation was enacted in 1986 which set the minimum wage for every worker at $1.50 per hour. In 1999, it was increased to $2.00 and which exists till today. With the increasing cost of living and inflation in the Marshall Islands, the minimum wage of $2.00 per hour is generally considered insufficient, particularly for those lower wage earning workers.

The proposal to increasing the minimum wage to $2.50 would translate into real terms enough money especially for the lowered paid workers to afford the high cost of electricity, foodstuff, transportation and etc. It is envisage that it will encourages, attracts and motivates workers to perform better, and have good retaining of workforce in the Marshall Islands. The Bill also proposes to impose $2.00 to every person who is on job training. It removes the exception given to persons on training not to be considered for minimum wage but sets it on $2.00 per hour.

The Nitijela Bill 16ND1, makes changes to propose the Minimum Wage at $2.50 per hour and further proposes that upon the certification of the law, a subsequent increase of fifty cent ($0.50) shall be added every year thereafter until the minimum wage reaches the maximum of four dollars ($4.00) per hour.

The bill also proposes to remove the exception given to private sector that engages trainees and apprentices learning any trade or skill under such employer, which imposes the minimum wage of two dollars ($2.00), that employees pay the same amount despite trainees or apprentices
